

Maryland To Allow Medical Students, Nursing Students & Those Studying to Be Medical Technician to Aid in Relief Efforts

In a press conference on March 25th, Maryland Governor Hogan directed the Health Department to immediately institute a program to encourage and allow medical students, nursing students as well as people studying to be a medical technician to sign-up to assist and be a part of the effort to combat the pandemic.

To register as a responder willing to provide services during this emergency situation visit: <https://mdresponds.health.maryland.gov/>